Now-a-days learners are more curious in external contents which reveal the facts that are intrinsically unfamiliar in their peer circle. They want to expose themselves in a highly knowledgeable manner by conversing about the highness of the unexplored interesting information. This curiosity kindles the learners mind to search for the new things which in turn tuning them towards the source to learn such kind of facts. This is the key for the teachers to keep their students intact with them. Students are usually much interested on useful real time facts to promote their out-world knowledge rather on textual syllabus. Even though the implementation of active learning strategies focuses the students towards the deep understanding of the subject, their interests on exploring facts is still quenching. The recent technologies entirely flipped the older classroom environments and made it as live and creative sessions presenting the concept effectively with relatively short span of time. The person who utilizes the rest of the time in an effective manner becomes the successful inspirational personality for the learners. Instead of discussing the facts, guide them the way to search for the facts.

“We are no longer in the dispensation of age and experience. We are in the era of knowledge and information. Information leads a true leader and a true leader leads other.” — Israel moreAyivor. Never focus towards the same routine of knowledge dispenses. Rather traverse through the relevant wide range of ignorant paths to facilitate the learners to know the pre-requisite to begin their journey towards it. It may be on career guidance, how to create opportunities, decision making skills, motivating by successful real time achievers, empowerment thoughts, how to be tolerant to failures, ways to gain wisdom, humanity, ethics, focused mind, sharing of achiever’s biography etc., Stay ahead of the learners with full-fledged resource to satisfy their thirst of knowledge. When sharing knowledge becomes passion, teaching becomes an art. “A true teacher would never tell you what to do. But he would give you the knowledge with which you could decide what would be best for you to do.” — Christopher Pike, Sati. Equipping ourselves with new facts everyday will get eventually delivered in the discussion sessions. “The first person you have to resurrect is yourself” — The RZA, The Tao of Wu.
